QILDRO Fact Sheet

If an alternate payee predeceases the member, full benefits will be restored to the member. A QILDRO may not be passed on to another person. Multiple QILDROs for the same member will be honored in the order of receipt.

No payment in excess of the benefit amount provided by the pension plan will be paid.

The alternate payee may apply for the member's benefit if the alternate payee is entitled to all of the member's retirement benefit or refund, and the member is no longer participating in an Illinois reciprocal retirement system.

Any member employed with a reciprocal retirement system before July 1, 1999 must sign a consent form for the QILDRO to go into effect. The member's consent is irrevocable and applies only to the alternate payee named.

Any member who begins employment with an Illinois public retirement system after July 1, 1999 accepts the QILDRO as a condition of employment.

Any member who has questions about a QILDRO should discuss it with their attorney. If a QILDRO will be used in a divorce settlement, the member should contact the retirement system in which they participate.

The Qualified Illinois Domestic Relations Order (QILDRO) allows a retirement benefit, lump-sum death benefit or a refund of contributions to be divided. These benefits may be divided on a percentage basis or as a dollar amount.

Generally, the QILDRO orders the payment of a benefit to a current or former spouse as the alternate payee. It may also be payable to a child or other dependent as the alternate payee.

The QILDRO does not establish a new benefit, create a new member or beneficiary, or apply to survivor annuities, disability benefits or State of Illinois group insurance.

A member may not choose a benefit type that would diminish the alternate payee's benefit without written consent from the alternate payee.

The QILDRO is usually issued at the time of divorce and sent to the member's retirement system. It is recorded and retained until the member applies for a refund, retirement benefit or dies.

Upon receipt of a valid QILDRO, SERS will promptly notify the member and alternate payee within 45 days. The QILDRO must state when it will go into effect and the dollar amount or percentage to be deducted from a member's refund, retirement benefit or lump-sum death benefit.

The alternate payee must keep the retirement system informed if their address changes. When the QILDRO becomes payable and the alternate payee is not located within 180 days, their benefit reverts back to the member. If the alternate payee is located after the 180 days, the QILDRO will be implemented, but the alternate payee is not entitled to back payments.

A QILDRO expires:

- Upon the death of a member or alternate payee (whichever occurs first).
- The member and alternate payee divide a refund of contributions in lieu of a retirement benefit.
- The beneficiary and alternate payee divide a lump-sum death benefit.
- If the QILDRO states a specific number of payments.

Other QILDRO information is available on the SERS website at srs.illinois.gov.
